

New York Artists Now: A Special Issue of The New York Observer

By GalleristNY 2/22 3:27pm

Deborah Kass

It's been a banner year for painter Ms. Kass. She published her first monograph, was honored with a mid-career retrospective at the Andy Warhol Museum in Pittsburgh, and is currently the subject of a solo show at Paul Kasmin Gallery (on view through February 23). Perhaps the most accomplished female painter to emerge since the 1970s, Ms. Kass is a pioneer who consistently pushes the pop art envelope.

Portrait: Patrick McMullan Company

Installation view of 'Deborah Kass: My Elvis +' at Kasmin, 2013 (Courtesy Paul Kasmin Gallery)